

ORBITAL THERAPY

Orbital Therapy Adds Dealers in Europe.

Bedford, MA, July 20, 2009 – Orbital Therapy announces the addition of dealers to distribute their products in the European Union.

Orbital Therapy has entered into agreement with 2Expand to sell their products in the Benelux (Belgium, Netherlands, and Luxembourg) as well as HEK medical GmbH to represent the company in Germany and Austria.

Orbital Therapy is manufacturing and developing products for the treatment of breast cancer. Company's all carbon fiber ClearVue™ prone position table addresses current and future requirements to deliver this emerging therapy technique. Placing the patient in the prone position reduces target motion, increases the separation between the target anatomy and critical structures such as lung and heart, and allows for better localization of the treatment area.

“We welcome 2Expand and HEK medical to our network of dealers. Both companies are very knowledgeable in the area of radiation therapy and have strong ties to their customer base”, said Jason Koshnitsky, CEO of Orbital Therapy.

About Orbital Therapy, LLC

Orbital Therapy was founded in 2006 to develop products for the treatment of breast cancer. Our innovative approach to the treatment of this particular disease will offer numerous benefits over currently used techniques and provide many benefits to the patient, as well as the care provider.
